Product Innovations:

The Evolution of the Mahalo Ukulele

Mahalo's research and development department constantly searches for new ways to enhance the sound quality and playability of our instruments.

Recent design and production innovations across the Mahalo range have delivered substantial enhancements to the sound quality and playability of our instruments:

SOUNDHOLE: Adjustments to the diameter of the soundhole delivers maximum volume, projection and clarity.

BODY: Increasing the depth of the body across the top bout provides increased projection and a richer, wider tonal palette particularly in the lower registers.

BRACING: Modified and repositioned internal bracing allows our tops to vibrate more freely resulting in increased response, clarity and sound definition.

BRIDGE: A newly redesigned bridge with a narrower footprint allows better top vibration boosting both volume and sustain.

NECK PROFILE - JAVA SERIES: The new, CNC machine shaped, slim neck profile on all Java Series instruments provides greater player comfort and a faster playing action.

HEADSTOCK: The re-designed shape of our headstock profiles (at nut joint) allows the player's fretting hand easier access to first fret chord fingerings and low-register notes.

AQUILA SUPER NYLGUT STRINGS: For enhanced tuning stability and sound quality, Aquila Super Nylgut strings are fitted to the entire Mahalo ukulele range.
